The building on the left was torn down in 1964 - the entrance was moved further south and the present brick office was built where this entrance stood.

New Albany Physicians

Excerpts from "The Advantages and Surroundings of New Albany, Ind Floyd Co." - published June 1892.

B. Buest, from a noted Prussian family, graduated in medicine at Leipsic, Germany; came to America 1852; served as brigade surgeon in 9th army corps in the war, located here where he has been in practice and drug trade, at 330 E. Market St.

Geo. H. Cannon is a native of this city; attended Forest Home Academy, in Ky., graduated from the medical department of the University of Louisville, in March 1877, at once locating in practice here at 114 E. Main St.

Asahel Clapp, the first permanent physician of New Albany, located here in 1817. He identified himself with the material interests of the place, was prominently connected in the progress of New Albany, and built up a large practice, on which he was engaged until his death in 1862.

William A. Clapp, son of the above, born Oct. 29, 1822, read medicine in his father's office, and graduated from the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia in 1848. He at once commenced practice in this city with his father. He served as surgeon of the 38th Ind. Reg. in the late war. His office and residence have remained at the place of his birth, No. 11 E. Main St.

E. P. Easley a native of Kentucky, attended the Seminary of Orleans, Ind., graduated from the medical department of the University of Louisville, in 1872, and located in New Albany. Office and residence 175 E. Spring St.

J. H. Lemon a native of Bloomington, Ind., educated at the State University, and the medical department of the Mich. University, locating here Jan. 1868. He served in detached duty as hospital steward in 3rd Div. 14th Army Corps. He has been coroner, county physician and member of city board of health.

John Sloan born in Maine, Sep. 25, 1815, graduated at Bowdoin Medical College, in 1838, and located in New Albany, the same year. He had charge of a hospital here, as contract surgeon, during the late war. His office and residence is 157 E. Main St.

John L. Stewart a native of Switzerland Co., attended Vevay Academy, graduated from the Kentucky School of Medicine, in 1865. He served in the late war. Engaged in the drug trade with John R. Sigmon, in 1868, continuing for 10 years, since which time his entire time has been given to medical practice. Office at No. 149 State St.

Seymour C. Wilcox born in N.Y., Sep 20, 1818, graduated from Geneva Medical College in 1841. He is president of the Cemetery board of regent. Office and residence No. 273 E. Spring St.

History of Fairview Cemetery

Originally called Northern Burying Ground, the name was later changed to Fairview Cemetery.

An article from the New Albany Daily Commercial, May, 1867.

"The following is the report of the City Sexton of interments in Northern Burying Ground from May 10, 1866, to May 1, 1867.

Whole number of male adults, 46; female adults, 43; children, 25; infants, 87. Total number of burials for the year, 170; number placed in vaults, 11; total number of interments, 181. The number of deaths reported from consumption is 18; from casualties, 12. All the deaths from cholera, three in number, were imported cases."

Oliver Cassel was elected city sexton May 7, 1866, but we do not know whether he kept any records other than the statistics that were reported in the newspaper. At this date no register has been located. An effort has been made to find as many as possible of these burials. The thirty-eight that were found have been included in this volume.

It appears that a new sexton was elected in May of 1867. He started a new register beginning with the number 5001.

During the early part of 1870, four lots were given to churches for the use of their ministers: Centenary M. E., Trustees of Wesley Chapel, German Lutheran and German M. E.

A. S. Rager, Sr. was elected City Sexton by the Common Council, May 10, 1875, and took charge May 13th.

In 1875 and 1876 much beautification took place. Trees were planted, dilapidated fences removed, avenues graded and new avenues were added. Water was introduced to the grounds, and an artificial lake, 100 by 300 feet, was set in the center of the cemetery. A fountain played from a grotto in its center.

Michael C. Kerr, born Titusville, PA., Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives 1875-76, died while in office and was buried in the cemetery Aug. 25, 1876.

Lots 20 and 21 in plat five were given to the William S. Culbertson Widows Home (Old Ladies Home), in 1876. This was used by those who died with no local family connections.

William Jones was elected Sexton May 7, 1877, and took office on the 9th.

In 1877, the city built the City Vault which was used in cases of delayed burials (usually during times of frozen or sodden ground).

John H. Dorst was elected by the Common Council May 10, 1880, and took charge June 10th.
